Quarterly Report of Newly Processed Collections January–March 2011

Welcome to the latest issue of the Library of Virginia's quarterly report Primary Sources. Here you will find a listing of the latest collections processed, microfilmed, or digitized by the Library. Since 1999, the Library has annually received General Assembly support for archival positions in order "to relieve the 54-year backlog in processing significant archival, special, and other historical collections."

LOCAL RECORDS

The Local Records Services Branch is charged with preserving, cataloging, and providing access to the records that document the daily activities of Virginia's counties, towns, and independent cities. The branch administers the Circuit Court Records Preservation Program (CCRP), which provides grant funds to the Commonwealth's 120 circuit court clerks to help preserve the historically valuable records maintained in their offices and those that have been transferred to the Library of Virginia for archival processing and storage.

Since 2007, the Virginia Circuit Court Records Program (CCRP) has scanned and posted images of original chancery causes for 49 localities totaling nearly 5.6 million images. This quarter the Library added scanned chancery causes for Loudoun County totaling 333,729 images. For more information, including a complete listing of all chancery projects, see the Chancery Records Index \(CRI\). As part of the branch's microfilm reformatting effort, 133 reels of new film were added to the reading room this quarter for the following localities: the City of Richmond and Augusta, Caroline, and Prince Edward Counties. For additional details and a complete guide to local records available at the Library of Virginia, please see County and City Records at the Library of Virginia.

PRIVATE PAPERS

The Private Papers section of the Description Services Branch at the Library of Virginia is charged with collecting records that supplement the official documents of the Commonwealth. These records include Bible Records, Business Records, Church Records, Genealogical Notes and Charts, Organization Records, and Personal Papers. They put a personal face on the activities of the citizens of the Commonwealth and provide a human touch to the records collected by Local and State Records.

Guide to the Personal Papers Collections at the Library of Virginia. Edited by Trenton E. Hizer. Richmond: The Library of Virginia, 2008.

The Guide to the Personal Papers Collections at the Library of Virginia contains entries for 5,730 personal papers collections. Ranging from diaries and correspondence to blogs and Web sites, these collections document more than 400 years of Virginia history. They offer an in-depth view of topics such as agriculture, economics, education, politics, society, travel, and war, and are essential in studying African American and women's history. The collections also contain deeds, wills, and other legal documents that may have otherwise been lost to fire or other disasters, along with photographs, postcards, scrapbooks, videos, and sound recordings. The Personal Papers Collections are invaluable resources for historians and genealogists. The Guide to the Personal Papers Collections at the Library of Virginia may be purchased at the Virginia Shop at the Library of Virginia.
